

PIMCO Income Fund

A flexible complement to your core bond fund, targeting high and consistent income with long-term capital appreciation

WHY INVEST IN THE FUND?

- 1 Targets consistent income and capital appreciation
 The fund seeks long-term capital appreciation and attractive risk-adjusted returns. This means that the fund aims to deliver a consistent income without sacrificing quality or principal stability.
- 2 Flexible multi-sector approach
 Rather than simply pursuing the highest yields within a single sector, the fund has the flexibility to invest across the global bond markets, focusing on the most attractive risk-adjusted income in any given market climate. It can also tactically shift portfolio weightings, moving to wherever we believe attractive yields can be generated.
- 3 Risk-focused with an emphasis on capital preservation
 The fund employs exhaustive credit research and makes full use of PIMCO's rigorous risk management capabilities. The fund will not stretch for yield by investing in securities that PIMCO deems excessively risky.

1 This is the average credit quality of the bonds held in the fund.

2 Past performance is not a guarantee or a reliable indicator of future results. Fund performance is quoted net of fees and expenses and assumes the reinvestment of all distributions but does not take into account personal income tax. Yield to Maturity (YTM) is the estimated annual rate of return that would be received if the Fund's current securities were all held to their maturity and all coupons and principal were made as contracted. YTM does not account for fees or taxes. YTM is not a forecast, and is not a guarantee of, the future return of the Fund. The Fund's actual return will depend on a range of factors, including fluctuations in the value of the Fund's securities held from time to time.

3 Reflects current allocation across: government, bank loans, agency and non-agency mortgages, corporates, non-US developed, high yield, emerging markets, CMBS, ABS and cash/other.

Role in a portfolio

CURRENT INCOME

The fund provides the potential for a consistent distribution stream with a focus on risk management. With the flexibility to adapt to changing economic conditions, the fund can act as an anchor allocation for income-focused investors.

PORTFOLIO DIVERSIFICATION

PIMCO Income Fund serves as a complement to a traditional core fixed income allocation. As a multi-sector bond strategy, it has the flexibility to invest in the most attractive income opportunities globally with a lower risk profile than credit strategies.

FUND OBJECTIVE

To seek high current income, consistent with prudent investment management. Long-term capital appreciation is a secondary objective.

PIMCO’s investment process combines an informed global macroeconomic outlook with robust bottom-up analysis. Our Australian investment specialists contribute to our global top-down views and then implement these views through bottom-up strategies.

STARTING AT THE TOP

PIMCO’s investment process is anchored by our economic forums. We also hold quarterly Cyclical Forums to refine our longer-term views and forecast shorter-term economic performance in all major regions as well as country-specific forums.

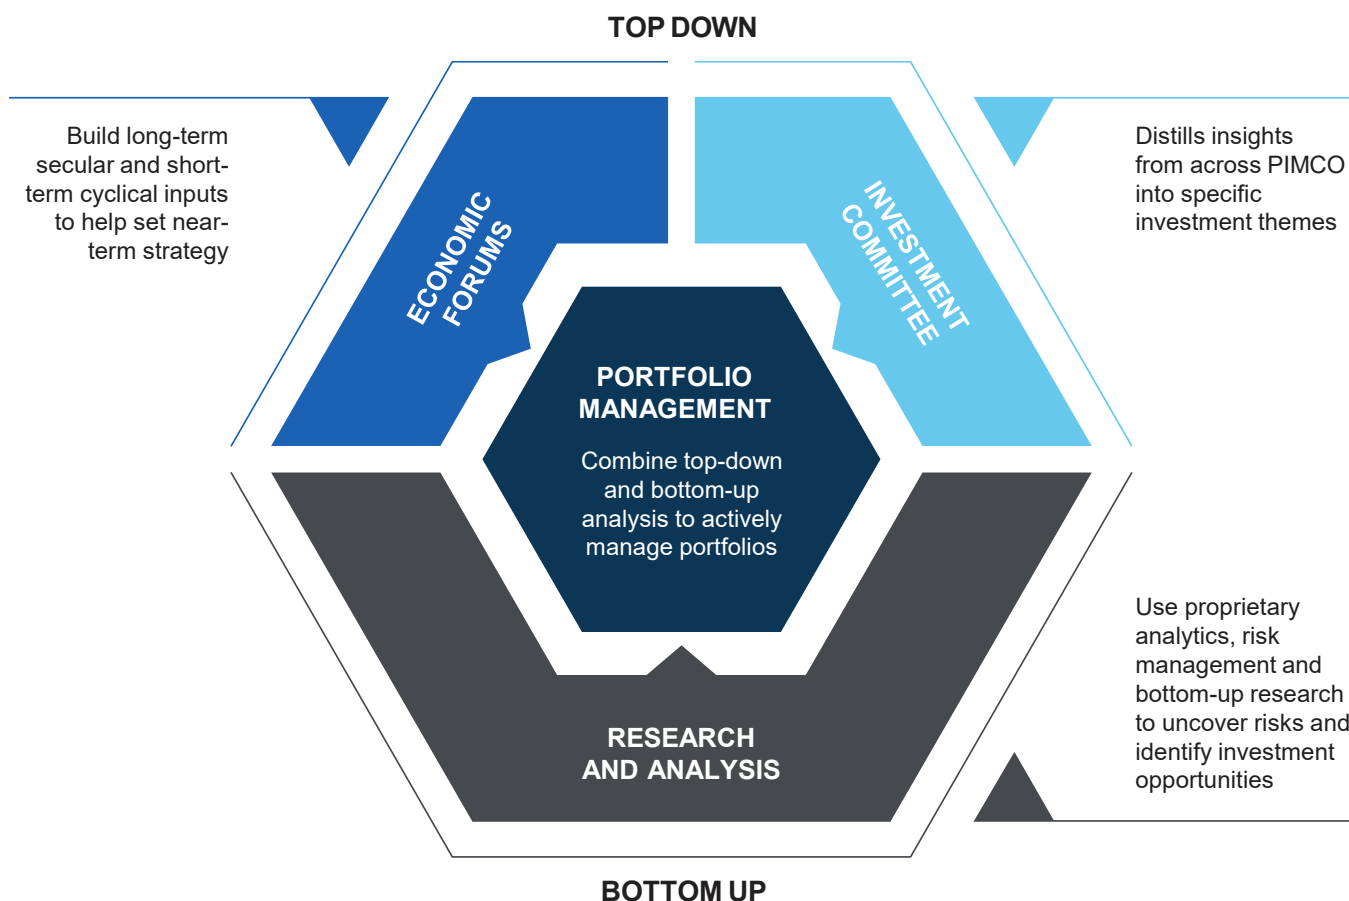

FROM THE BOTTOM UP

Rigorous bottom-up analysis is meshed with our top-down themes to identify the most attractive securities for our clients’ portfolios. PIMCO’s regional and specialist portfolio managers work extensively with our robust global research team – industry sector specialists, who log millions of miles a year to target opportunities across the globe and capital structure before the market does.

Investing in the bond market is subject to risks, including market, interest rate, issuer, credit, inflation risk, and liquidity risk. The value of most bonds and bond strategies are impacted by changes in interest rates. Bonds and bond strategies with longer durations tend to be more sensitive and volatile than those with shorter durations; bond prices generally fall as interest rates rise, and the current low interest rate environment increases this risk. Current reductions in bond counterparty capacity may contribute to decreased market liquidity and increased price volatility. Bond investments may be worth more or less than the original cost when redeemed. Investing in foreign denominated and/or domiciled securities may involve heightened risk due to currency fluctuations, and economic and political risks, which may be enhanced in emerging markets. Mortgage and asset-backed securities may be sensitive to changes in interest rates, subject to early repayment risk, and their value may fluctuate in response to the market's perception of issuer creditworthiness; while generally supported by some form of government or private guarantee there is no assurance that private guarantors will meet their obligations. High-yield, lower-rated, securities involve greater risk than higher-rated securities; portfolios that invest in them may be subject to greater levels of credit and liquidity risk than portfolios that do not. Equities may decline in value due to both real and perceived general market, economic, and industry conditions. Derivatives may involve certain costs and risks such as liquidity, interest rate, market, credit, management and the risk that a position could not be closed when most advantageous.

Investing in derivatives could lose more than the amount invested. Diversification does not ensure against loss. Investment involves risk including possible loss of the principal amount invested. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. The value of units of the Fund and the Fund's distributions, if any, may fall or rise. Investment returns may be exposed to exchange rate fluctuations. In an environment where interest rates may trend upward, rising rates will negatively impact most bond funds, and fixed income securities held by a fund are likely to decrease in value. Bond funds and individual bonds with a longer duration (a measure of the expected life of a security) tend to be more sensitive to changes in interest rates, usually making them more volatile than securities with shorter durations.
