Form 1099-B

FORM 1099-B

If you redeemed or exchanged mutual fund shares in 2014, other than money market fund shares or shares within a retirement account, you will receive a Form 1099-B. Form 1099-B reports the proceeds from any such sales and is used to calculate capital gains and losses. Proceeds from such sales must be reported to the IRS. For tax year 2014, we are required to report your cost basis for shares of funds that were purchased on or after January 1, 2012, and sold during 2014. Below is an example of a 1099-B form for a sale or exchange of shares held for one year or less. Please note that your 1099-B may have different or additional sections depending on the holding period of your shares.

Вох	Description
1 a	Total ordinary dividends. Shows total ordinary dividends (including any short-term capital gains) that are taxable. You should include this amount on Line 9a of Form 1040 or 1040A. Also, you should report it on Schedule B of Form 1040 or Form 1040A, if required.
1 b	Qualified dividends. Shows the portion of the amount in Box 1a that may be eligible for the 20% or zero capital gains rates. See the Form 1040/1040A instructions or consult your tax advisor for specific advice on how to determine this amount. Once determined, report the eligible amount on Line 9b of Form 1040 or 1040A.
2a	Total capital gain distributions. The amount of the fund distributions that is taxable as total long-term capital gains. For mutual fund purposes, a capital gain earned on any security held by the fund (not necessarily by the shareholders themselves) for 12 months or longer is categorized as long-term. This amount should be reported on Schedule D (Form 1040), Line 13. But, if no amount is shown in Boxes 2c-2d of any 1099-DIV you receive, and your only capital gains and losses are capital gain distributions, you may be able to report the amount in Box 2a on Line 13 of Form 1040 or on Line 10 of Form 1040A. Please see Form 1040 or 1040A for instructions or consult your tax advisor for specific advice.
2b	Unrecaptured section 1250 gain. An amount may be found in this column for certain funds that invest primarily in real estate securities. The gain is from certain depreciable real estate property. If there is an amount in this box you should see Schedule D (Form 1040) for instructions.
2 d	Collectibles 28% rate gain. The 28% rate gain is primarily from gains on the sale or exchange of collectibles held for more than 12 months. Certain PIMCO funds may have collectibles gains.
3	Nondividend distributions. This amount represents the return of your cost (or other basis) and is nontaxable. When you redeem or exchange shares, the cost basis is reduced by the amount in this box. If all of the cost is returned, you must report future distributions as a taxable capital gain, even though this form reports them as nontaxable distributions. Please see IRS Publication 550, Investment Income and Expenses, or consult your tax advisor for additional assistance regarding your specific situation.
4	Federal income tax withheld. If you did not provide us with a correct Social Security or Tax Identification number, we are required to withhold a percentage of your reportable dividends. This amount is shown in Box 4 and is the portion of your reportable dividends and other distributions paid to the IRS under the 28% Backup Withholding Rule. This amount should be included as tax withheld on your income tax return.
6	Foreign tax paid. The amount listed in this box represents your share of foreign taxes paid by a mutual fund (see p. 8). You may be able to claim foreign tax paid as an itemized deduction or credit. Please refer to IRS Form 1040 instructions or consult your tax advisor for personalized assistance.
10	Exempt-interest dividends. This box shows your tax-exempt income dividends for certain PIMCO municipal bond funds and tax-managed funds. While still exempt from federal tax, such amounts are required to be reported to the IRS. You should include this amount on Line 8b of Form 1040 or 1040A.
11	Specified private activity bond interest dividends. This box shows the portion of the interest in Box 10 from qualified private activity bonds required to be reported for alternative minimum tax (AMT) purposes. Consult your tax advisor to determine if you are subject to the AMT.
